Write letters to the editors of your local newspapers.

This is a health and safety issue which means the more voices heard by our politicians the better chance we will have of adopting resolutions that will prevent uranium mining in Weld and surrounding counties and the entire state of Colorado. Educating the public about this issue is very important. Please take action today and write a letter to your local newspaper.

Write or call the Weld County Commissioners. Ask them to pass a resolution to prohibit uranium mining in Weld County. They need to hear from everyone in both Weld and Larimer counties. The decisions Weld County Commissioners make will affect the water quality of all surrounding counties.
